GCX Corporation to broaden interface between mounting solutions, users at HIMSS12

PETALUMA, Calif. (Jan. 26, 2012) – GCX Corporation proudly kicks off its fifth decade of partnership with the health care industry at the HIMSS12 Exhibition on Feb. 20 through 24 at the Venetian-Sands Expo Convention Center in Las Vegas.

In booth #4227 of Upper Level Exhibit Hall C, GCX experts will showcase a wide range of mounting solutions for medical devices and computer hardware designed to suit virtually any clinical environment. More information is available at gcx.com.

This year GCX will introduce its next-generation VHM-25™ support arm. The VHM-25 is a small-profile version of the best-selling VHM™ Series of variable height mounting solutions from GCX. With its space-saving, easy-to-clean design, combined with the well-established durability of GCX products, the VHM-25 is uniquely suited to today's health care environment. Examples of the channel mount and the counter top "bolt-down" version with hidden fasteners will be on display at the GCX exhibit.

Also showcased this year will be the customizable VHRC™ Series mobile solution. This fully modular, open-architecture VHRC Series cart presents one simple tool designed to integrate all of your EMR hardware devices while creating an easy-to-operate, easy-to-manuever mobile workstation.

As the worldwide leader in medical instrument and IT mounting solutions, GCX celebrated its 40th anniversary at last year's conference in Orlando, Fla. With more than four decades of focused experience, GCX has a unique long-term perspective on how medical devices, users and health care environments all interact.

"GCX proudly shares with HIMSS a specific dedication to the medical industry and improved patient care," said Kent Hochgertle, National Sales Manager for GCX. "The health care environment is changing faster than ever, and health care institutions and IT solutions have to keep pace.

"Our GCX team looks forward to connecting with old friends and making new friends at HIMSS12. The information and ideas exchanged here will ensure that the partnership continues and that GCX products continue to offer versatile solutions that fit any health IT mounting requirements the industry might present."
